4 Messages from The Climate Reality Project Japan for COP30

- 1 Move Away from Coal, Oil, and Gas
Let's stop relying on fossil fuels like coal, oil, and gas. Instead, let's live in harmony with nature and use more clean energy made from the sun, wind, and other natural sources.
- 2 Set Higher Goals to Cut Greenhouse Gases
Let's set even stronger and clearer goals to greatly reduce greenhouse gas emissions — and take real action to reach the targets.
- 3 Finance People, Communities, and Nature
Let's give real support to Global South, stop investing fossil fuels, and increase fair and sustainable investments that protect local people and nature.
- 4 Make Decisions Fairly — Leaving No One Behind
Let's listen to the voices of those most affected by the climate crisis — people and nature — and make sure meetings are transparent and decisions are made fairly and openly.

It's time to take action!
Let's stop the climate crisis — together!

This postcard is based on our position paper for COP30, which was created with our diverse group of volunteers. You can learn more by scanning the QR code.

We hope that COP30 will inspire even those who have never thought about the climate crisis to start reflecting on what climate actions they can take themselves. Put your own thoughts into words, share this card with someone, and start a conversation about climate change.

The Climate Reality Project is a global initiative addressing the climate crisis. We train Climate Reality Leaders around the world to spread accurate knowledge, promote climate action, and work toward achieving true net-zero emissions by 2050.
